San Mateo County Celebrates Independence Day at Memorial Park

DEDICATION OF PARK ATTRACTS THOUSANDS

The stream of campers which began pouring into the San Mateo County Memorial Park Thursday evening and increased yesterday morning until the park was actually packed with people and cars, brought thousands to see the beauties of the new park.

Prior to the opening of the park to the public, every facility to make the stay at the park more pleasurable, and every facility for camping and picnicing had been carefully looked after by the American Legion posts of the county. Underbrush had been cleared out and the park made as safe from fire as it is possible of make it.

Music was in abundance. The band of Halfmoon Bay, a bunch of the county's finest music producers, was on hand all day and their efforts met with the approbation and applause of all.

The speaker of the day was James Collins, state commander of the American Legion, who spoke in praise of the men from this county who gave their lives in the great war; the men to whose memory this park is dedicated.

An elaborate program was given under the direction of John Sinclair, chairman of the county council of the American Legion. This program included the dedication of individual trees to the memory of the men who died in the war. This dedication was pereformed by Supervisor Thomas L. Hickey of the First township. Chairman C. K. Thompson of the county board of supervisors, received the park from the American Legion in the name of San Mateo county.

A free barbeque had been prepared and that with a free dance and many athletic events helped to make the day one memorable in the history of the county.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK
By E. R. Waite, Sec. Shawnee, Okla. Board of Com.

THAT the question what to buy and where to buy it is easily answered by reading the ads in local papers.

THAT citizens should protect the future prosperity of the home city by spending their money in the home city.

THAT there is much satisfaction in buying at home, because behind the home business concerns stands their reputation for square dealing. Buying at home increases the resources of the home city, making better times for all by stabilizing home business, and thus insuring a steady growth for the city.

THAT the housewife is the one that makes life worth living. She is the essential part of the smooth running of the home and of life. Without her the work of the world could not be done. Her day is long and taken up with work and worry. She gets little leisure, but the friends of her leisure hours are the local newspapers, they not only furnish her with the news of the world but the news in the advertising columns are her market place. She finds there what, where when to buy what she needs.

THAT as long as mail order houses hundreds of miles away can come into a community and beat local business concerns at their own business, in spite of the handicap of package freight, express or postage and a big expense for catalogues, it behooves local business concerns to get busy and stay busy.

THAT the methods by which local concverns can beat mail order competition is by building up efficiency and creating bigger turnover by local newspaper advertising.

MAIL ORDER HOUSES GET THEIR BIGGEST BUSINESS FROM SECTIONS WHERE LOCAL MERCHANTS DO LITTLE ADVERTISING.

ORDER RESTRAINING SHERIFF DENIED IN FEDERAL COURT

An injunction against Sheriff T. C. McGovern of this county was denied to George Samwell of Colma in the United States District Court of Judge Partridge last Wednesday. Samwell, who is a dealer in fireworks, was arrested by McGovern for selling fireworks in violation of the county ordinance which prohibits the sale of, or use of fireworks of any kind.

Samwell applied to the federal court for an injunction, stating that the action of the sheriff would result in a loss to him of $15,000. In denying the injunction, Judge Partridge upheld the ordinance of San Mateo county, and declared the right of the county to pass such an ordinance. Samwell is still facing charges of violating the county ordinance.

OREGON LIFTS FUMIGATION ORDER

A telegram was received this week by county horticultural commissioner, A. W. Tate, from the Department of Agriculture telling of the removal by the State of Oregon of regulations requiring the fumigation of all products from California. This order was put into effect when the epizootic of foot and mouth disease threatened California.

California products entering Oregon must still be accompained by a certificate from the horticultural commissioner of the county of their origin, stating that they are from an uninfected area. No other regulations are now in effect.

With this removal of restrictions, said Tate, the last state with which California carries on much trade is again open to free commerce. A few states still have embargoes against goods from California, but these are not hampering trade, as very little is sent to the states which now require fumigation, etc.

A petition was received by the board at this meeting from a large number of the property owners of the Highlands district, objecting to the proposed plans of a Burlingame woman to erect eight little houses on a lot and a half on the corner of Hopkins and Grand streets. Arrested two weeks ago for having bothered a little girl of the Oak Knoll district, and suspected of being the fiend who during the past few months had brutally attacked and beat into unconsciousness fifteen girls of San Francisco, Frank Spel, alias Spear and other names, is now serving a six months' jail sentence.

When arrested Spel stated that he had never been arrested before. Finger print identification, however, revealed the fact that he had served a 15-month prison sentence in Washington for burglary.

SAN FRANCISCO YOUTH PAYS HEAVY FINE

The officer caught up with the car near the city limits and was making out the usual white slip when the smell of whiskey attracted his attention. A search followed and the discovery of the whiskey and the gun was the result.

In court the prisoner maintained a bored attitude as though the proceedings had little of interest to him, and expressed his desire to get it over with as soon as possible. The nonchalant attitude of the defendant, together with the seriousness of the offense brought the limit in the way of fines from the court. The fines were set at $250 on each of three counts; the illegal possession of liquor; the illegal transportation of liquor, and carrying a concealed weapon.

The heavy fine was paid by an unknown man shortly afterwards and the unruffled youth freed from jail.

FEDERAL PROHIBITION FORCE AGAIN VISIT REDWOOD CITY

The strong arm of the law again swooped down on Redwood City last Tuesday night when a posse of prohibition officers conducted a raid on the Fly Trap Inn at Five Points. A thorough search of the premises was made and every corner of the establishment searched. No incriminating evidence was found, however. Samuel Rutter, chief of the prohibition forces, expressed the opinion that the Fly Trap Inn had been warned of the raid.

Before their ineffectual raid on the Fly Trap, the federal officers raided Carl Nelson's place in Woodside and arrested Nelson, who is to appear in the federal court today. A quantity of liquor is said to have been confiscated in the raid at Woodside.

CHINESE GAMBLERS FINED BY JUSTICE

"For ways that are dark and for tricks that are vain, the heathen Chinee is peculiar," so wrote Brete Hart, and Justice of the Peace Ray Griffin heartily concured in the California bard's summing up, when Aw Wong, Sing Lung, Joe Sing, Joe Hoe and Sing Mock appeared before him and plead guilty to conducting a gambling house in Menlo Park. The unanimous plea of guilty by the Orientals followed upon the conviction of Wong Woo on the same charge in the same court the day before.

The seven Chinese were arrested with several others and a number of white men at a Menlo grocery store several weeks ago, and a large amount of gambling paraphanailia was seized. When arraigned all of the Chinese plead not guilty, and demanded a jury trial. Wong Woo was the first to be tried and was found guilty. The others reversed their pleas.

The Chinese were given fines of $150 each and were ordered to leave the county. Wong Woo was not ordered to leave, as he is the owner of property in Menlo Park, where he conducts a grocery store. He was, however, ordered to refrain from all gambling in his store.

While away the brakes had slipped, and as the car was on an incline, it gained in momentum, and after running about two hundred yards had gone over the bank. The car was a new sedan, and was found to be much the worse for its dive.

SHALL ZONING ORDINANCE STAND?

A man arrested twice in Atherton for breaking the ordinance of that city which desiginates the meets and bounds beyond which the business district shall not pass, will next month appear before the Supreme court of this state and endeavor to prove the ordinance unconstitutional. This man contends that he has a right to conduct business on his property which is in Atherton's residential district. We have no doubt that the Supreme court will uphold the city in its zoning ordinance limiting the business district. Laws are enacted for the benefit of the public. If a law curtails the personal liberty of an individual to some extent, and yet is a benefit to the people as a whole—then the personal liberties of one must suffer in the common good. That is the way with all law, and the one who is curtailed, if he be a good citizen, will submit to the provisions of a reasonable law which promotes the happiness of his community. It is for the good of the community that there shall be a residential district which shall not be used for business purposes. We hope that the gentleman whose property lies within the residential section of Atherton will reconsider his attitude, and considering that the public good comes first, will submit to the will of the majority. It is that that makes free government possible.

DO YOU KNOW?

IN primitive times where every household could and did supply every need of the family; where the family cow provided milk and butter; the sheep, wool which was made into cloth by the women and by them also into clothes; when the father killed his own beef and tanned the hides to make the shoes for the family—in those times there was no need of advertising. When living became more diversified, however, when one man started to follow one line of work and another, another, some means became necessary to indicate to the world in general what kind of goods each merchant had for sale. This was the first need of advertising. Today, with the growth of trade, the need of advertising has grown proportionately, yet the same need prompts the merchant to advertise. If every merchant in town were sure that everyone who needd his goods knew all about the line that he carries—knew that his prices are no higher than in the city; knew that his stock is just as good as carried in some of the large emporiums of the city, and his overhead expense less; if the merchant knew that each one who needs what he has to sell would think of all this when he wants to buy something, there would be no need of advertising. But that's one thing the merchant does not know.

A CHANCE TO SERVE

MR. O'Brien, manager of the Sequoia Theatre of this city, announced this week that his theatre would be thrown open every Saturday afternoon to the children of Happyland, the camp for the poor children of San Francisco, maintained near here by the San Francisco Bulletin. The children of Happyland are the ones who need the outing most, and would be unable to get out into the country were it not for the generosity of the Bulletin; children whose parents could not send them to the country for two weeks, and who would have to spend their whole vacation within the sordid whirl of the city, while the great open country lies within a few miles of them. These children will be given two weeks of happiness in San Mateo county's hills and return to San Francisco better children for having been here. Mr. O'Brien's example is one worthy of all imitation. The stay among us of these little ones is brief. Let's help to make it happier than it would be if we had not been here. The Kiwanis club is working on the matter now, but they do not wish to monopolize the opportunity of service. Auto rides around the county will always be appreciated by these little tots, who have probably never seen this country. Autos are abundant in Redwood City. Anyone who has a few hours to spare can do real service and gain real pleasure at the same time. Show that Redwood City has hospitality as well as climate.

HELP PREVENT FIRES

CALIFORNIA is facing a critical fire year," said state forester, M. B. Pratt in sending out urgent fire warnings this week, "and the Board of Forestry is taking every possible precaution to limit and check the forest, brush and grass fires that are ravaging our state. People traveling through the state cannot exercise too much caution with their campfires, cigarettes and lighted tobacco.

"Three additional rangers and a fire lookout have been placed in the field this year on account of the unusual hazardous conditions. The rangers have been stationed in Humboldt, Santa Barbara, Napa and Solano counties, and the lookout on Banner mountain in Nevada county. This gives the department the most effective force it has ever had in the field.

"The federal government protects the national forests and the state confines its activities to private lands outside national forests within the counties, under a plan where the state, county and timber owners defray the expenses. State rangers are located in every cooperating county and have organized fire fighting units. Some of the most disastrous fires this year have been in the non-cooperating counties of Siskiyou, Shasta, Eldorado, Amador and Santa Clara.

"The state affords this protection to privately-owned timber, brush and grass lands, because all the people of California are directly or indirectly concerned in the preservation of the forests, watersheds and ranges of the state and every citizen owes it to his state to assist in this preservation."

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS WRITES OF TRIP TO GRAND CANYON

The following letter was received this week from County Superintendent of Schools Roy W. Cloud, who is now attending the national convention of the National Educational Association at Washington, D. C. Enroute to Washington, the delegates from California stopped at the Grand Canyon. It is of this visit that Mr. Cloud writes.

Grand Canyon, June 24, 1924.

Hello John:

Thought you might want a word as to my trip. We started Monday evening on the National Educational Special, via Santa Fe. Our train is made up of four sleepers, a diner and an observation car with seventy-two pedagogues bound for Washington. We were held at Barstow from twelve noon to six ten to await the arrival of the Los Angeles contingent. Barstow is out on the desert, and the thermometer was one hundred eight in the shade and mighty little shade.

We arrived at the Grand Canyon today, Wednesday, at 7:30 a. m. We were required to walk through sheep dip and sawdust to take any hoot and mouth germs off our shoes, then we started for the hotel. As I was starting I saw Ruth and Margaret Doxsee get off the train. They are on their way home from a month's stay in Iowa and Chicago. We went up to the hotel and there I had I had my first view of the Canyon. It is indiscribable. I had seen pictures. They were all true, but I had never seen the wealth of coloring, as I saw it in the morning sun, on the sides and depths of the great chasm. It looked to be about a mile wide, but we were informed that it is twelve miles wide at this point. The shadow effects were marvelous and the changing hues of the shadows were almost magical.

We took a walk on the rim in the morning, and in the afternoon went on the sixty-four mile trip out to Navajo Point, where we had the Painted Desert View. I won't try to explain or describe what we saw as my vocabillary is too limited. For fifty miles to the east and forty miles to the west the great towering trailing, curving, winding canyon stretched before us. The purple haze of the desert hung over the towering walls of orange, gray and green, the opalescent hues of the sky stretched over and around it all and the fantastic shapes of the rocks were almost uncanny.

The silvery band of the Colorado, thousands of feet below wound into sight and then was lost again to reappear further on.

We saw the place where the cliff dwellers lived, and I can't understand why they should have stayed there unless they were afraid of wild animals.

At sunset we had the grandest view of all. Adjectives cannot explain the majesty and greatness of it all. The mellow glow of evening then settled and we finished a wonderful day.

Tonight at nine we start on the second leg of the journey. It is going to be hot I know, but if others can stand it, I can. We will have only three hours in Chicago which will be our next stopping point. Washington will be reached Sunday morning. I will write you my impressions of our Capitol, as we will be there a week.

Sincerely,
ROY W. CLOUD

Cleaning Without Odor by the
F. Thomas Process
Our many years of experience has taught us that it is impossible to do perfect cleaning with cheap, inferior methods. That is why we found it necessary to invest nearly $500,000 in the equipment of a plant and the establishment of an expert organization to do the quality of work demanded by our customers.
With the "F. Thomas Process" we not only remove every particle of dust but we return your garments without that usual disagreeable smell of gasoline. Every drop of gasoline we use in cleaning is redistilled and very highly refined.
Raw gasoline—the kind that you buy for your automobile—is full of heavy oils and unfit for cleaning fabrics. It is little better than ordinary distillate and leaves a sickening "gasoline" smell in your clothes

Good Service—Good Will

THIS company cherishes the good will of its customers and the public.

Such good will is fostered by a general understanding of the company's problems and of its relations with the public.

Your principal points of contact with the company are the service you get and the rates you pay.

What the public wants in the way of electric power service is plenty of current, served without interruption at the lowest rates consistent with good service.

California utilities are strictly regulated with respect to rates, financing and service by the public through its Railroad Commission.

California enjoys the best service and the lower rates. That is why California has become a great industrial state. That is one reason why life in the city and on the farm has become so much more comfortable in California.

AN OLD TIME FOURTH TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Yesterday passed off serenely as a "sane" fourth. The youngsters were not allowed to shoot fire crackers the whizing skyrocket was absent, the plughatted politician did not twist the lion's tail and the day ended by everybody being sober. There were times in Redwood when things were not thus; when the Fourth if less sane, was a more gala event than at present. An account of an old time fourth is given in the Gazette of twenty-five years ago. It reads in part as follows:

"The Fourth of July will long be remembered in Redwood City. Never before were there seen such an outpouring of people—such a magnificent street pageant, such an exhibition of patriotic spirit. Not only did Redwood turn out in force, but their numbers were augmented by large delegations from all parts of the county, Santa Clara, Watsonville and San Jose. Never before was such a surging crowd seen in Redwood City.

"A national salute of forty-five guns fired by Claude Fox ushered in the day. All the morning trains brought in a surging crowd. Long before the procession moved the streets were thronged with carriages and the sidewalks with people of all ages and conditions. Maidenly beauty was resplendent in the daintiest garbs of summer, and old age swelling with pride smiled with her, and with her walked, applauded and perspired, and was happy.

"And the decorations! Main, Bridge and A streets have rarely, if ever, worn such gorgeous trappings, and on many of the minor streets good taste lent effective aid to the town's adornment.

Grand Marshall Granger was early on the street and made a fine appearance, decorated with patriotic colors. His aids, Robert Chatham and Louis Genocio, with prancing steeeds and nodding plumes and noble bearing, were prompt yet courteous in their command.

"Just before the procession started George W. Lovie, in from the engine house, presented Miss Julia Beeger to the fire company as its mascot. He feelingly told of what the late Henry Beeger did for the department, and what interest he took in it in his life time. At the conclusion of his remaks, Miss Beeger in a few well chosen words presented the department in behalf of her mother with a beautiful silken banner. In the center of the banner is a fireman's helmet, a trumpet and a nozzel, and the inscription, 'Redwool City Fire Department, our aim: The City's Welfare, Our Deeds Our Reward.'

"The whole is surmounted with an eagle with wide-spreading wings. Chief Winter in accepting the banner, spoke feelingly of his appreciation and thanked the donor in behalf of the Redwood City Fire Department.

At 10:30 the parade, led by the Elite band, started and marched south to Stambaugh street, to Cedar, to Phelps, to Mound, to Main, to Bridge, to A, to Arguello, and countermarched at Eight to Seventh, to C, to Webster, to Washington, to Bridge to the Alhambra. The great crowd of spectators that had gathered on the streets did not have to wait long on any portion of the line of march before they saw the heads of the procession.

First in line of march came the members of the Watsonville hose hook and ladder companies, drawing the cart with which they later in day won the first tournament prize. Three teams from Santa Clara followed: The hose brigade wearing white suits and yellow sashes; Hope hose dressed in blue; and the tannery hose in red. Next followed the Menlo Park department with its new apparatus drawn by four grey horses. The members wore red shirts and caps.

San Mateo No. 1 came next in order with the local hook and ladder truck in tow, and No. 2 with neat fiting blue uniforms followed. The home department made up the rear of the line. The hose cart on No. 2 decorated with flowers and smilax, drawn by a steel grey horse, was driven by Miss Dagmar Hynding, who was attired in a white duck suit with a yachting cap to match.

Miss Julia Beeger, wearing an elegant costume, rode horseback with this company, and was much admired all along the line. No. 3 followed with its apparatus in gaudy decorations, and the hook and ladder company hauled the fire fighter of the pioneers—the old hand engine.

"It was almost 6 o'clock when the last race was won, and shortly afterwards the Darktown fire brigade appeared and created no little amusement. It was truly a burlesque on the department and made everyone laugh.

"At 8:30 the fireworks were set off and were witnessed by a great throng. During the display the Elite band discoursed sweet music, and made the air re-echo with, 'She Was Bred in Old Kentucky,' 'Just One Girl,' 'Green Fields of Virginia,' and other familiar refrains.

"Over two hundred couple crowded and danced until 4 o'clock in the morning, when the festivities of the Fourth came to a happy close."

SULPHUR RECOMMENDED FOR MILDEW ON GRAPES

For grape growers to be on the safe side in case powdery mildew should result from present weather conditions, a liberal use of sulphur at this time is recommended by D. G. Milbraith, plant patholigist, state department of agriculture. This should be used very generously in order to prevent the development of any mildew spores which might lodge on parts of vine.

At the present time the low temperature of the atmosphere accompanied by considerable humidity forms conditions which are favorable for the development of Powdery Mildew on grapes. The unusual weather conditions this year have probably led many growers to feel that mildew will not develop.

This statement is not made as a prediction, that the epidemic of mildew on grapes for 1923 will recur this year, but this situation is called to the attention of the growers so they may be prepared to prevent loss to their grape crop from the ravages of this plant disease.

NOTES FROM BELMONT

Miss Florence Cummings and Mr. George M. Fisher were married in San Francisco Wednesday morning. They will spend their honeymoon at Crater lake.

Misses Carmel OBrien and Christine O'Brien returned from Seattle Saturday.

The card party given by the P.-T. A. Saturday evening for the benefit of the baseball club was a great success.

Clarence Johnson, Irwin Hansen, Paul Miller and Bill Johnson left Tuesday for Monte Rio, where they will spend the Fourth. They will then spend two weeks touring the northern part of the state.

Miss Margaret Harrington of Menlo Park was the guest of Miss Amelia Johnson Wednesday.

Miss Inez Messner spent Wednesday visiting friends in San Francisco.

Miss Elizabeth Pennington and her mother spent Wednesday in San Francisco, where they attended a theatre party.

NEWS OF MENLO PARK

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Reynard of Menlo Park left Sunday for Yosemite. The Misses Rosalie and Jessica Smith will join them shortly.

This week the Yakamoto nurheries on Valparaiso avenue received a shipment of bulbs valued at $15,000 to be planted in the grounds of the nurseries. The proprietor started the business a few years ago with a very small capital, but by thrift and industry, has built up a big business and amassed a fortune.

Louis Stern, the well-known Atherton capitalist, passed away last Monday morning, after a long illness. For many years he suffered from paralysis. He was a nephew of the late Levi Strauss, the overall manufacturer who amassed a large fortune in business, leaving it at his death to his nephews, who conducted the uncle's business after his death. Mr. Stern was a native of San Francisco, about 60 years old. He is survived by his widow and a daughter. The Stern home is one of the show places of Atherton.

Lyle Harrington, engineer for the Dumbarton bridge, arrived this week from the East with plans and specifications for the proposed bridge, and will in a short time ask for bids. Mr. Harrington was at Ravenswood on Thursday looking over the site. A number of San Francisco capitalists were with him. There are sufficient funds in the treasury to start operations.

The old Edgar C. Humphrey home on Robles avenue, for some time owned by Mrs. Freeman and her daughter, Mrs. Romaine of San Francisco, was sold this week to Captain Alexander, a retired naval officer. The place was used during the war as headquarters for the army officers. The new owner is planning to improve and develop the property. It is said the sum of $12,500 was paid for the realty.

Miss Dorothy Vincent, a former Menlo Park girl, graduated from St. Luke's hospital in San Francisco this week as a professional nurse. The young lady will remain at that institution to follow her profession.

Mrs. Agnes Hill returned this week from New York, where she went as a buyer for the Emporium. She makes frequent trips to the east for her firm. Mrs. Hill was glad to get back to her pretty home on Roble avenue from the heat and tumult of the east. She says the humidity was almost unbearable in Chicago and New York.

The Womans Auxilliary of the Trinity Episcopal church met this week and elected the following officers for the coming year. Those elected were: Mrs. E. B. Hinds, president; Mrs. George Moore, secretary; Mrs. T. Stentiford, treasurer. On Wednesday the Guild will go to Woodside and take lunch at the home of Mrs. John Daly.

A banker from Sacramento was here during the week securing signatures to be presented to the state bank commissioner for a permit to establish a bank in Menlo Park. The petition was freely signed by the business men of the town.

Herbert Hoover, secretary of the department of commerce, arrived from Washington on Tuesday to spend a six weeks' vacation at his campus home with Mrs. Hoover and their sons. Mr. Hoover was in Menlo Park on Thursday visiting old friends who knew him in his college days at Stanford. He often visited here in those days and has a warm spot in his heart for the old stamping grounds. Mr. Hoover has made an excellent secretary. Mr. Hoover may some day be president of these United States; he is a possibility.

Miss Rose Broggi, one of Menlo Park's belles, departs on Tuesday next for Honolulu for a short vacation. While there she will write her impressions of the islands for the Times-Gazette.

E. S. Heller of Atherton addressed the Menlo Park Improvement Association last Friday evening on the formation of the proposed water district. He gave detailed information concerning the purpose of the district and the manner in which it might be organized. Should the district be formed the people of this community would be in a position to secure water from wells, the Hetchy Hetchy or the Calavaras system. They could secure better results as an organization than by individual efforts. He thought no adequate supply could be gotten from wells or from the Bear Gulch water shed but should the Hetch Hetchy water come soon the people here would be in a position to go before the San Francisco supervisors and get results. The big influx of population demanded a larger supply of water, and the people must be prepared to furnish it. Mr. Heller said that the Spring Valley Water Company was furnishing water to the Bear Gulch system through his efforts as he was a director of the San Francisco concern that needed all its own water for its city consumers. The Bear Gulch could be bought but he did not favor the proposition if any other supply could be secured. Of course this was a matter for the people of the community to debate and decide. Mr. Heller was frank and fair in answering the questions that were put to him by the members. He made a good impression and as he concluded he was roundly applauded. The association is gathering further data and at is next meeting will make a detailed report.

During the week the superintendent of the Bear Gulch Water Company sent to all consumers a circular urging conservation of the water, owing to the low condition of the lake. The company asks the consumers to eliminate unnecessary uses, to check waste as soon as discovered; repair leaks; don't water lawns or flowers during the heat of the day; and don't leave hose unwatched running in the garden or garage. By the careful use there will be plenty of water for all but economy must be exercised. The company is doing all it can to accommodate its patrons.

Postmaster Barney Larrecou, Joseph Kelley and Edward Derry left on Wednesday for a motor trip to Yosemite Valley for a brief rest. The party will return on Monday.

The attractive Terwilliger place on Valparaiso avenue was sold this week to E. Fanchetti, a business man of San Francisco. The sale was made by S. Di Natale, the local realty broker.

The Pacific Gas and Electric Company is extending lines to supply the Bear Gulch Water Company with energy for a pumping plant on the Bay road. The water company has several wells there, and is drifting another. By this means the concern hopes to meet the big demands made upon it by the increasing population.

The annual retreat of the secular clergy of the Archdiocese will open Monday week, at St. Patrick's Seminary, Menlo Park. The retreat consists of a series of spiritual exercises, and is considered by the priests as an exceptional opportunity for the concentration of their thoughts upon God and their eternal salvation.

The idea of withdrawing into solitude for the betterment of the soul is as old as the world, and since the beginning of Christianity the example of Christ has been the great incentive for what is called the making of a retreat. More than once the narration of the labors and teachings of our Lord's life on earth is interrupted by such significant phrases as "He went apart into a desert place, and prayed," and "He spent the whole night in prayer." And as He did Himself, so, too, would He have His followers do. "And the apostles coming together related to Him all things that they had done and taught. And He said to them: 'Come apart into the desert and rest awhile.'" It is the same idea upon which the Church acts in this twentieth century. She tells her priests to come apart from the rush of life and its various activities and duties and to give some time to serious meditation upon eternal truths.
